

MASON PROJECT TO BE GIVEN IMPETUS

PENINSULA BOOSTERS PLAN TO MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO AND ORGANIZE TO FURTHER GREAT TIDE LAND DEVELOPMENT.

Next Saturday morning a meeting is to be held at the chambers of the San Francisco supervisors that promises to have an important bearing on the future development of the peninsula. At this gathering the Mason Plan, named after its originator, Haven A. Mason of San Francisco, secretary of the City Planning Commission, will come up for consideration, a temporary organization will be effected, and it is hoped some definite scheme for the furtherance of this gigantic project will be acted upon.

The plan, as set forth from time to time in these columns, is to dredge a deep water channel along the west shore of the bay and use the silt raised to reclaim the adjoining tide-lands. The territory to be thus reclaimed includes some 30,000 acres and it is believed will provide more land for the homes of several million people. Besides this it is expected, if the plan is put into execution, that a practically continuous city from Hunters point in San Francisco to Redwood City will result, the new land with deep water frontage furnishing attractive sites for hundreds of manufacturing plants.

Delegations from various civic bodies on the peninsula will be present at the meeting as well as the members of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce. The committee from South San Francisco that will attend consists of Dr. F. S. Dolley, president of the local Chamber of Commerce; W. H. Dinning, F. A. Cunningham, E. C. Peck, P. R. Thompson, W. J. Martin, J. W. Coleberd and Robert Speed.

SMALL FIRE AT PIPE YARD.

The local fire department responded to an alarm at the Western Pipe and Steel yards just before noon today (Thursday). A car was burned before the department put out the blaze with chemical, but no other damage resulted.

"BABYLON" IS ATTACHED FOR ELECTRICIAN'S FEE

The famous Ohio building, now known as "Babylon," and the property on which it stands on the shores of the bay off San Carlos, is in the hands of the sheriff under attachment, as a result of a suit filed Saturday in the superior court by M. E. Ryan, electrical contractor of Redwood City, through Attorney Albert Mansfield, in which Ryan seeks to obtain payment of a claim for $380.45 for electric wiring.

The suit is directed against the Santa Clara Land Company, a corporation; George A. Hensley, R. M. Smith and Elliette O'Brien, the complaint reciting that the plaintiff took a contract for the complete installation of the electric wiring for the "Babylon" resort, for which he was to be paid $1232.55. On this contract, according to the papers in the case, the sum of $852.10 has been paid.

The property stands on record in the name of Elliette O'Brien, and it is alleged that the land company, Hensley and Smith are part owners in the resort.

UNIVERSITY OFFICIAL PRAISES LOCAL HIGH

Inspector Commends Instruction and Spirit of School

During the past week the local high school was visited by T. C. Touton, university high school inspector. Mr. Touton makes annual trips of inspection to high schools accredited to the State university, and his verdict on the conduct of a school is always awaited with interest. Monday, of this week, L. E. Adams, principal of the local high school, received the following letter from Mr. Touton. It speaks for itself, and is the best evidence of the high quality of instruction here.

"Mr. Lewis E. Adams,
"Dist. Supt. of Schools,
"South San Francisco, Calif.
"My dear Mr. Adams:

"It was a real pleasure for me to spend a day with you in your high school during the past week. The general impression made upon me by your school situation was that the work of the school is being carried on under decidedly favorable conditions and that commendable results are being realized.

"The curriculum of the school is broad and offers opportunities for an application of wide range of pupil interests, through the pursuit of the usual academic subjects and through courses in manual arts, domestic science, commercial branches and physical education. I am of the opinion that you have a faculty, the members of which are well prepared to offer the several subjects of the curriculum; that the members of your faculty have been carefully selected, is apparent.

"The spirit of co-operation among the members of your teaching force and between teachers and pupils is deserving of commendation. This condition has, no doubt, been brought about through the earnest and unceasing efforts of yourself and your teachers.

"It is my conviction that through the work of such high schools as yours the standards of good citizenship and worthy home membership are to be maintained on a high level.

"Wishing you continued success in the administration of your school, I am "Very sincerely yours,

"F. C. TOUTON."

INDUSTRIAL CLUB HOLDS JUNKET TO MOUNTAINS

A two days' junketing expedition into the mountains of Santa Cruz county was held last Saturday and Sunday under the auspices of the Industrial Club. The guests attending numbered about fifty-five and included, besides many members of the club, representatives from practically all the local factories, several engineers from the State Highway Commission and from the California Auto Association, and Mr. Healy, assistant to M. M. O'Shaughnessy, city engineer of San Francisco.

The affair was held at Fairbanks, the summer home of Dr. F. S. Dolley, president of the Industrial Club. A troupe of entertainers from San Francisco put on a minstrel show for the amusement of the guests.

BANDITS TAKE LARGE SUM FROM WEALTHY PAIR

Three hundred and sixty dollars in cash and jewels valued at $25,000 was the reward five masked automobile bandits reaped early Saturday morning when they crowded the limousine of Arthur J. Herbst, retired capitalist of Hillsborough, off the Junipero Sera boulevard near Sloat, San Francisco, and robbed Herbst and his wife of their money and valuables at the points of guns. The bandits used force both on Herbst and his wife, knocking the former almost unconscious and tearing the clothes from Mrs. Herbst in their mad scramble for hidden diamonds and other precious stones. When the robbers had gathered their loot they cut the ignition on the Herbst car, warned the chauffeur, Charles Smith, not to attempt pursuit, and then fled in their own machine toward San Francisco.

Judge E. E. Cunningham returned Tuesday from a three weeks' stay at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. Judge Cunningham reports a decided change for the better in his health.

EXHIBIT PLANNED OF SCHOOL WORK

Manual Training and Sewing Classes to Show Work June 8 and 9.

Interesting exhibits of work done in the manual training department and in the sewing classes of the local grammar school will be held at the grammar school building for two days, June 8 and 9. In this exhibit will be displayed samples of the work done by the pupils taking the courses named, and the public is invited to attend. A special invitation is being issued to parents of the pupils. A. C. Kleemeyer, principal of the school, is the teacher of manual training, while Miss Maybelle Goin is the teacher of the sewing class.

Mr. Kleemeyer's manual training class room is an interesting place to visit. Here boys of the seventh and eighth grades learn to handle carpenter and cabinetmakers' tools and turn out work that is astonishing for the cleverness of the workmanship demanded. Sixteen benches, each with its complement of chisels, hammers and allied tools, are used to accommodate the young workmen and ranged around the room are scores of pieces they have made. These cover a wide range. There are taborets of many sizes and shapes, linen closets and many other articles. All are executed with a skill that speaks eloquently of careful instruction and painstaking execution. At different times work done in this class has found its way into the city hall.

Among these pieces being a bulletin board in the corridor, two hat racks in the council chamber and a table in the city marshal's office.

The work done by the girls of Miss Goin's classes will be on display in the room on the second floor directly over the office. Here will be seen aprons, doll dresses and many other articles that the girls learn to make. Miss Goin is especially desirous that the mothers of the girls who have been learning to sew during the term now ending, as well as the mothers of girls of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of next year, come and inspect the work being done. On the two days mentioned, June 8 and 9, the exhibit will be held from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Money comes and money goes, but automobile expenses go on forever.

The "eternal triangle" is so called because it isn't "square."

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY."

This play, which is to be given by the students of the high school on June 3d, is a humorous comedy in three acts. The cast is as follows:

Mr. Marsland (his nephew) Tom Doak
Harry Marsland (his nephew) Ambrose Aylsworth
Mr. Cattermole (his nephew) Elmer Vaccari
Douglas Cattermole (his nephew) Haydn McMills
Rev. Robert Spalding, Alexis James
Mr. Sydney Gibson (tailor of Bond Street) Alpheus McGovern
John (a servant) Wareham Brown
Knox (a writ server) Edith Marsland (daughter to Mr. Marsland)
Laura Baldini
Eva Webster (her friend and companion) Lillah Brown
Miss Ashford (an old maid and spiritualist) Mabel Whitten
Mrs. Stead (Douglas' landlady) Sylvia Haubrich

The scenes are:

Act 1. Douglas Cattermole's rooms.
Act 2. Mr. Marsland's country home.
Act 3. Mr. Marsland's country home.

Douglas Cattermole Jr. must sow his wild oats before his uncle will help him, and to do so he goes to Mr. Marsland's home disguised as Rev. Robert Spalding, a private secretary. Spalding soon arrives and is taken for a medium by Miss Ashford. He thinks he has come to be a secretary for a private lunatic asylum. The incidents which take place are exciting as well as amusing. The love scenes are cleverly worked out after Douglas Cattermole becomes infatuated with Edith and Harry with her friend, Eva Webster.

Tickets are being sold at 50 cents apiece, reserved seats 75 cents. Be sure and see this play. You will miss a great deal if you fail to come.

CLUB WOMEN HOLD ANNUAL BREAKFAST

Woman's Club of This City Has a Delightful Affair Saturday.

The annual breakfast of the Woman's Club of South San Francisco, held last Saturday at the beautiful home of the San Mateo Woman's Club, proved to be a most enjoyable affair in every way. There were fifty-five members of the local club present beside several guests of honor, the latter being Mrs. John L. McGinn, Mrs. J. N. Vickerson, Mrs. J. Biber, Mrs. R. Reberle and Mrs. Max Elftman, all prominent clubwomen of San Mateo.

An interesting program was given as follows:

Miss Catherine Edson of San Francisco, concert dancer, in dances, "Temple Bells," "Egyptian Dance," and "Spring Dance;" Miss Ida May Bradley of Oakland, reading from Kipling and Browning; Miss Ella Kline, vocal numbers accompanied by Miss Alice Barker; the talented children of Prof. E. F. Claudio in violin and piano selections.

Mrs. E. C. Peck, president of the local club, presided at the meeting following the breakfast and addresses were given as follows: Mrs. J. N. Vickerson, "Club Work with ex-Servicemen and Women;" Mrs. J. Biber, "The Value of a Club Owning Its Home." Greetings were given by the other honor guests.

The clubhouse was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pink roses, fox glove and pansies. A delicious menu was served.

LOCAL GIRLS GRADUATE FROM S. S. TEACHERS' COLLEGE

A number of South San Francisco girls took part in the graduation exercises of the San Francisco Teachers' College which was held on the Greek Theatre in Berkeley last Sunday.

Miss Beatrice Eikerenkotter and Miss Peggy Carmody were among those graduating, and other local girls who took part in the Guild services were the Misses Alice Wallace, Myrtle Mullen, Alma Stahl Edith Broner and Bernice Farrell.

A large number attended from South San Francisco. Among them being Mrs. J. Eikerenkotter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coffinberry, Mrs. Caroline Coffinberry, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carmody and the Misses Mary and Helen Carmody.

CLASSES FOR FOREIGN BORN MAY BE HELD

Evening Instruction May Be Given; Band and Orchestra Planned

Two items of interest in the school department overshadow the usual busy stir incident to the closing of schools.

Night school classes for foreigners who wish to learn English were opened recently, with forty men present. As the news spread around the class increased until, eight days later, seventy-eight were present.

An experiment is being conducted for four weeks to determine if there is a demand for such classes, and if the demand proves general, as results seem to indicate, permanent classes will be organized in August and continued throughout the school year. It would seem there is need of classes of such a nature in South San Francisco.

At least fifty now attending classes cannot understand English at all, and none are able to write or read the English language.

The classes are open to both men and women, and are proving very popular. Anyone wishing to enroll should go to the high school Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday evening at 7:30.

Prospects for securing an instructor in band and orchestra instruments for the schools during the next school year has thrown the student body into a fever of anticipation. The South San Francisco schools need a band and an orchestra. Ways and means to obtain an instructor have been discussed by music lovers as individuals as well as by the Chamber of Commerce and Woman's Club, and, invariably the discussion ended when the expense encountered was found to be too great.

Through the influence and interest of Dr. J. C. McGovern the school trustees are negotiating with Mr. Knight of San Bruno to engage his services as instructor and organizer of a school band and a school orchestra.

Mr. Knight has organized such a band and orchestra at San Bruno during the last school year, and on Saturday evening, June 3d, the San Bruno School band of forty pieces, and an orchestra of twelve pieces, will give an exhibition of what Mr. Knight was able to accomplish in ten months with beginners.

It is well known that a good band is one of the best advertisements a school or city can have.

The high school students are putting the finishing touches on the school play to be given Saturday evening, June 3, at the high school. A very laughable comedy, together with the band and orchestra music make a program well worth the price of admission.

LEGION TEAM BRINGS ANOTHER GAME HOME

The Bernard McCaffrey Post No. 85, American Legion, baseball team made it three straight last Sunday by handing the Bon Tons of San Francisco the short end of a slugging contest.

Bissett broke into the game and came through with three hits out of three times up. It looks like the winter's rest hasn't hurt his eye any. This boy always was a bear with the club and looks as if he is in for a good season.

Foraker outthit Kouns, getting five out of five, while the best Kouns could do was four out of five. In four games these two have made twenty-nine hits. Some slugging.

The score:
American Legion 23 21 3
Bon Tons 12 11 5
Batteries—Kouns and Olson; Burns and Capper.

MRS. HYNDING ENTERTAINS HONORING MRS. E. C. PECK

Last Saturday evening a community dinner was given at the home of Mrs. Andrew Hynding in honor of the birthday of Mrs. E. C. Peck. A number of joke presents were presented to Mrs. Peck, and a jolly evening was spent.

TRUSTEES MEET IN BUSINESS SESSION

BOARD HEARS THAT OTHER TOWNS WILL HELP BUREAU ADVERTISING FUND; DISCUSS SENDING DELEGATES TO S. F.

The letter written by City Clerk Daniel McSweeney to the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce in response to a request to communicate to the Bureau's advertising fund, brought back a letter of appreciation read at Monday evening's meeting of the local city trustees. The clerk's letter had stated that this city stood ready to contribute to the fund which will send literature exploiting the peninsula region throughout the East. The second communication from Secretary R. H. K. Smith of the Bureau stated that the other towns of the peninsula were responding favorably to the request and that the sum each would be asked to contribute will be set soon and the board here will be apprised of such action.

The letter enclosed a copy of the program for the big July Fourth celebration to be held by the Bureau at the San Carlos speedway, with a special invitation for the board members to attend. Secretary Smith stated that Governor William D. Stephens and Senator Samuel M. Shortridge had each been invited to attend and make an address.

A letter from the League of California Municipalities stated that a conference of city officials of northern California was to be held Saturday, June 3d, at Hotel Lincoln, Stockton, to consider several important matters concerning municipalities, and urged the local board to send a representative. The letter said three propositions were to be discussed, as follows:

1. A proposition to submit all publicly owned utilities to regulation by the State Railroad Commission.
2. A proposition to submit all publicly owned utilities to taxation.
3. A proposition to take the granting of franchises out of the hands of municipalities and place this power in the hands of the Railroad Commission.

As no city trustee could see his way clear to attend the meeting, the letter was ordered filed.

A communication from C. N. Kibrice of San Mateo set forth the purpose of the meeting called for Saturday morning at the supervisors' chambers in San Francisco to organize for furthering the Mason plan of development of tide land in this county, and asked that the board members attend. Trustees L. G. Hardy and Henry Scampini were delegated to represent the board at this meeting.

A number of bills against the city were audited and ordered paid.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION HOLDS FIRST BANQUET

About thirty members of the South San Francisco Merchants' Association met at the Ship Hotel Wednesday evening for the first get-together banquet held under the auspices of the association. President H. A. Cavanna presided at the table, and talks were made by many of those present. It is planned to hold similar events from time to time to promote a spirit of co-operation among the local merchants.

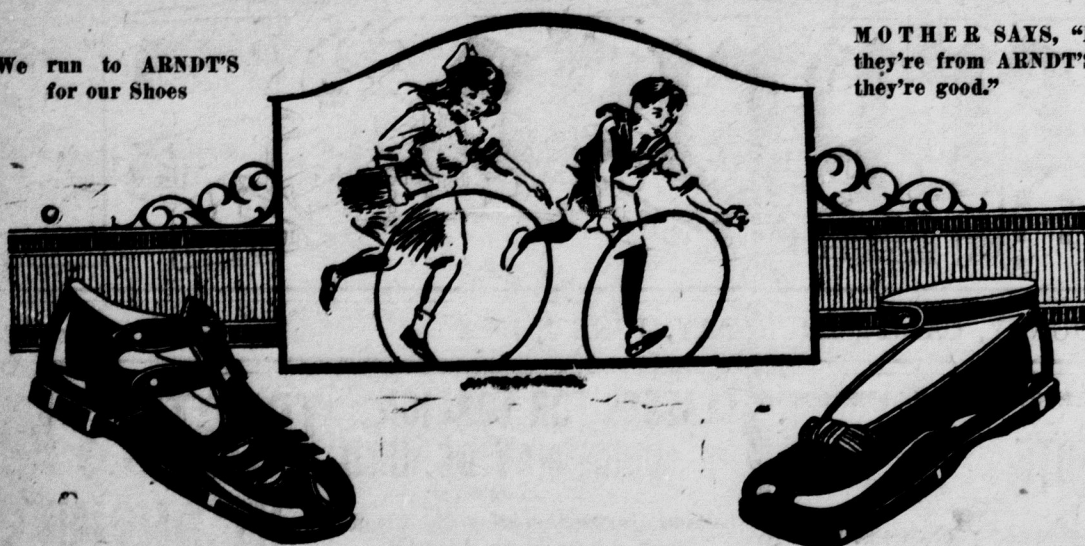

PENINSULA BUREAU TO HOLD MEETING FRIDAY

An important meeting of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Organizations has been called for Friday evening, according to an announcement made Tuesday morning by Executive Secretary R. H. K. Smith.

The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. in the Oak Grove avenue school in Burlingame, and members of the executive and advertising boards and all committees have been urged to attend.

Important plans for the big celebration to be held at the San Carlos speedway on July 4th will be discussed, and it is exceedingly important that a large attendance be secured.

THE STORY OF PAINT IS 4,000 YEARS OLD

From the days of the pyramids to the present is a long period of time, yet in those days as at present, paints were used for beautifying and preserving the objects which they covered. In the old days paint was used as a decorative material for the mummy cases.
Today it is used to conserve the natural and converted resources of the country.

Painting one's buildings is not an expense. It is an investment. It absolutely insures against depreciation and rotting. It is the only form of insurance that can be guaranteed to perform its duty 100 per cent.

Paints have been high during the last few years, but are now down to normal basis. It would seem to be economy to paint now. The Dutch have an old proverb which says, "Good paint costs nothing, for it saves more than it costs."

There are many brands of paint on the market and to the consumer all paints look alike. It is only when the paint has been applied to a building for four or five years that the quality is demonstrated. Is it too late to regret one's action after a poor choice of paint. It is well to buy the advertised lines. While we are not mentioning any brand in particular, a perusal of our advertisements will indicate the leaning of the editorial chair.

SPRING IT

If you have a new idea, spring it. This country has become great because its citizens have had the brains to produce ideas and the courage to work them out to fruition.

But don't expect to revolutionize the world with one blast. The world is older than we are. It will be here after we are gone, and other brains will be producing ideas that are a hundred times better than ours.

Every big thing has a little beginning. Because the idea is good it grows and thrives and expands until it becomes great and of lasting benefit to many people.

It may be so with your idea, but it will not be so as long as you keep it bottled up.

Spring it.

WAITING FOR NOISES

Many Americans are waiting to hear the guns roar again on the other side of the Atlantic. There is a profit in it for them.

Others are waiting to hear the roar of the blast furnace and the sound of the hammer, and the hum of the saw, and the song of the man in the field. There is profit in these noises for them. There is also peace, and happiness, and contentment.

We coined money during the last war, but we paid dearly for our riches in the end. And there are those who are ready to coin it again under like conditions.

The person who would see the ravages of another war for the sake of personal gain is a poor American. He is not an American at all. He is not even a man.

He should be invited to board an outgoing ship, and forget to return.

A DEADLY MENACE

A dope addict recently passed up his father's funeral in order to satisfy his craving for the drug that destroys.

The case is not unusual—only one of the many.

Dope is the great parasite upon the nation today. It is destroying the minds and bodies of hundreds of thousands of people. It is encircling the nation with its tentacles at an appalling rate of speed. It is menacing the future of the republic.

The man or woman who peddles it is a criminal of the most depraved type, worse than the murderer who blows off the top of his victim's head. The punishment provided by law is not adequate. It is not in proportion to the offense.

The person who deliberately takes life for personal gain, either by slow process or quickly, by drug or by gun, should pay the penalty with his own.

The welfare of the body politic is greater than that of any individual member thereof.

Judging from press reports, the radio has made wonderful strides in the last few minutes. In an hour or so we ought to be receiving election returns from Mars.

It's not trouble for a pretty woman to marry for money, but it's a whale of a job to extract it from a tightwad husband.

To summon your friends in a hurry, just walk down the street with the neck of a bottle protruding from your pocket.

The fellow who doesn't care to be considered a nincompoop shouldn't permit himself to become one.

Nothing is more exasperating than to try to argue with a person who agrees with everything you say.

Some people will never consider the radio perfect until it records the neighborhood scandal.

Foreign nations should go to work instead of to war. They would live longer and eat more.

Some women's tongues are like an eight-day clock. They take a long time to run down.

Doing nothing is a hard thing to do, but some people dearly love such work.

The world still contains a few really good people, but we are awful lonesome.

Tell your troubles to your neighbor if you want him to make his visit short.

Poem by Uncle John

THE OLDEST SETTLER.

Old Uncle Andy Higgins has inhabited these diggings, accordin' to his statements, nearly ever since the flood. . . . He swum the old Missouri to evade the petty jury, when her highest bluff was nothin' but a little dab of mud. . . .

He hears us fellers grumble, when the weather takes a tumble, an' never calls a halt until she's twenty-nine below,—but soon old Uncle Andy has us feelin' fine-an-dandy, when he tells us how they froze in squads, some sixty year ago. . . .

When summer-heat is fiercest, an' coolin' breezes scarcest, old Uncle Andy chuckles with his everlasting grin. . . . And says, in his opinion, there's a mighty warm dominion, where, chances is, the most of us will likely flounder in!

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.

SCOUT CALLED "TAM-E-YUKH-TAH" (CUT-OFF LEG)

Amos Chapman was a scout for Gen. Nelson A. Miles in the war with the southern plains tribes in 1874. One day, with Billy Dixon ("Hasta"—Long Hair) and four soldiers he was carrying dispatches from Miles' camp on McClelland creek in Texas to Camp Supply, Indian Territory, when they were surrounded by a war party of 125 Comanches and Kiowas. At the first fire from the Indians Private Smith fell from his horse. His companions, believing him dead, dismounted, abandoned their horses, and ran to a buffalo wallow, a depression in the ground about 100 yards away. The two scouts worked swiftly with their knives deepening the wallow while the three soldiers kept up a hot fire against the savages, who were riding at full speed in a fast-narrowing circle around them.

Suddenly Chapman noticed Private Smith trying to rise. "Boys, keep these infernal redskins off me and I'll run back and get Smith," he said to his companions. He laid down his rifle, sprang from the wallow, and under a hail of Indian bullets ran to where Smith lay. Throwing himself beside the wounded man, the scout pulled Smith on his back and rose. As he staggered back towards the wallow, 15 Indians rode for him at full speed.

Dixon and his comrades opened up with a fiercer fire to protect Chapman with a dash for safety. When he was only 20 yards from the wallow an Indian rode almost on top of him and fired. The scout fell, but since he did not feel any pain, he believed he had only stepped into a hole. "Amos, you are badly hurt!" exclaimed Dixon as Chapman dropped beside him.

"No, I am not," declared the scout. "Look at your leg," replied "Hasta," and when Chapman looked he saw that one leg was shot off just above the ankle. He had been walking on the bone and dragging the foot behind him, but in the excitement of the moment he did not know it. His friends amputated the foot, bound up the wounds, held out against the assaults of the Indians until they were rescued by a company of soldiers. Their brave defense won special mention in General Miles' dispatches, and Chapman was given a medal of honor for his heroic act. Ever since that fight the Indians have called him "Tam-e-yukh-tah" or "The Man with the Cut-Off Leg."

SNAKE BITE SERUM

Southern California Towns Will Be Served by Airmen.

San Diego—The San Diego Zoological society has announced that it has completed arrangements to deliver by airplane an anti-venomous serum to be administered to persons bitten by rattlesnakes in this part of southern California. A kit containing the serum, a syringe and emergency dressings will be carried in a parachute, which will be dropped to the town calling for help in cases where the aviator can not find a suitable landing. The society announces that the serum will be provided free, but that to effect a cure the serum must be injected within four hours after the snake bite.

CALIFORNIA RICE UNSOLD

Sacramento—Approximately 1,300,000 bags California's paddy rice remains unsold and under control of the California Rice Growers' Association. The last three weeks has seen no change in the paddy market and the mill men refuse to conform their bids to the price asked by the association. One official expressed the belief that this condition could not last because he believes the rice growers will be forced to lower their prices in order to raise money to satisfy holders of growers papers.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Captain Phineas P. Scraggs has grown up around the docks of San Francisco, and from mess boys on a river steamer, risen to the ownership of the steamer Maggie. Since each annual inspection promised to be the last of the old weatherbeaten vessel, Scraggs naturally has some difficulty in securing a crew. When the story opens, Adelbert F. Gibney, likable but erratic, a man whom nobody but Scraggs would hire, is the skipper. Nella Halvorsen, a solemn Swede, constitutes the fo'castle hands, and Bart McGuffey, a wastrel of the Gibney type, reigns in the engine room.

CHAPTER II.—With this motley crew and his ancient vessel, Captain Scraggs is engaged in freighting garden truck from Halfmoon bay to San Francisco. The inevitable happens, the Maggie going ashore in a fog.

CHAPTER III.—A passing vessel hailing the wreck, Mr. Gibney gets word to a towing company in San Francisco that the ship ashore is the Yankee Prince, with promise of a rich salvage. Two tugs succeed in pulling the Maggie into deep water, and she slips her tow lines and goes away in the fog.

CHAPTER IV.—Furious at the deception practiced on them, Captains Hicks and Fishery, commanding the two tugboats, ascertain the identity of the "Yankee Prince" and, fearing ridicule should the facts become known along the water front, determine on personal vengeance. Their hostile visit to the Maggie results in Captain Scraggs promising to get a new boiler and make needed repairs to the steamer.

CHAPTER V.—Scraggs refuses to fulfill his promise and, with marvelous luck, Scraggs ships a fresh crew. At the end of a few days of wild conviviality Gibney and McGuffey are stranded and see their old positions on the Maggie. They are hostilely received, but remain. On their way to San Francisco they sight a derelict and Gibney and McGuffey swim to it.

CHAPTER VI.—The derelict proves to be the Chesapeake, richly laden, its crew stricken with scurvy. Scraggs attempts to tow her in, but the Maggie is unequal to the task and Gibney and McGuffey, alone, take the ship to San Francisco, their salvage money amounting to $1,000 apiece.

CHAPTER VII.—Independently rich, our two adventurers still have a kindly feeling for the Maggie, and, his crew having deserted him, Captain Scraggs induces them to return at an "old horse" sale the three purchase two mysterious boxes which they believe to contain smuggled "Oriental" goods. They find, instead, two dead Chinamen.

CHAPTER VIII.—Scraggs seeks to "double cross" his associates, but Mr. Gibney outwits him and makes a satisfactory financial settlement with the Chinese company to whom the bodies have been consigned, leaving Scraggs out in the cold.

CHAPTER IX.—Gibney resents McGuffey's action in lending money to Scraggs without consulting him, and after a terrific wordy combat the three separate, McGuffey becoming assistant engineer on an oil tanker, Gibney disappearing, and Scraggs, forced to lay up the Maggie, takes a subordinate position on a ferry steamer. Senor Lopez, Mexican revolutionist, makes Scraggs a generous offer for transportation of munitions to Lower California. Scraggs accepts, and the old Maggie is once more put into commission. Arriving at his destination, Scraggs finds his old companion, Mr. Gibney, is the consignee. Time having softened animosities, the reunion is joyful. Gibney plans to steal the ammunition and convey it to revolutionists in Colombia. On their way they are attacked by a Mexican gunboat, which they capture, though the Maggie is damaged so that it has to be destroyed. On the gunboat, to which they transfer, they find their old friend McGuffey acting as engineer.

CHAPTER XI.

"Now, boys," announced Commodore Gibney, as he sat at the head of the officers' mess at breakfast next morning, "there'll be a lot of canoes paddling off to visit us within the hour, so whatever you do, don't allow more than two of these cannibals aboard the schooner at the same time. Make 'em keep their weapons in the canoes with 'em, and at the first sign of trouble shoot 'em down like dogs. It may be that these precautions ain't necessary, but when I was here twenty years ago it was all the rage to kill a white man and eat him. Maybe times has changed, but the harbor and the coast looks just as wild and lonely as they ever did, and I didn't see no sign of missionary when we dropped hook last night. So don't take no chances."

All hands promised that they would take extreme care, to the end that their precious persons might remain intact, so Mr. Gibney finished his cup of coffee at a gulp and went on deck.

The Kandavu aborigines were not long in putting in an appearance. Even as Mr. Gibney came on deck half a dozen canoes shot out from the beach. Mr. Gibney immediately piped all hands on deck, armed them, and nonchalantly awaited the approach of what might or might not turn out to be an enemy.

When the flotilla was within pistol shot of the schooner Mr. Gibney stepped to the rail and motioned them back. Immediately the natives ceased paddling, and a wild-looking fellow stood up in the forward canoe. After the manner of his kind he had all his life soused his head in lime-water when making his savage toilette, and as a result his shock of black hair stood on end and bulged out like a crowded hayrick. He was naked, of course, and in his hand he held a huge war club.

"That feller'd eat a rattlesnake," gasped Captain Scraggs. "Shoot him, Gib, if he bats an eye."

"Shut up," said the commodore, a trifle testily; "that's the number-one nigger, who does the talkin'. Hello, boy."

"Hello, cap'n," replied the savage, and salaamed gravely. "You likee buy chicken, buy pig? Maybe you say come 'board, I talk. Me very good friend white master."

"Bless my sweet-scented soul!" gasped the commodore. "What won't them missionaries do next? Cut off my ears if this nigger ain't civilized!"

He beckoned to the canoe and it shot alongside, and its brown crew came climbing over the rail of the Maggie II.

Mr. Gibney met the spokesman at the rail and they rubbed noses very solemnly, after the manner of salutation in Kandavu. Captain Scraggs bustled forward, full of importance.

"Interduce me, Gib," he said amiably, and then, while Mr. Gibney favored him with a sour glance, Captain Scraggs stuck out his hand and shook briskly with the native.

"Happy to make your acquaintance," he said. "Scraggs is my name, sir. Shake hands with McGuffey, our chief engineer. Hope you left all the folks at home well. What'd you say your name was?"

The islander hadn't said his name was anything, but he grinned now and replied that it was Tabu-Tabu.

"Well, my bucko," muttered McGuffey, who always drew the color line. "I'm glad to hear that. But you ain't the only thing that's taboo around this packet. You can jest check that war club with the first mate, peddle 'em over, you black beggar, or I'll hit you a swat in the ear that'll hurt all your relations. And hereafter, Scraggs, just keep your nigger friends to yourself. I ain't waxin' offensive over this savage, and it's agin my principles ever to shake hands with a colored man. This chap's a d-d ugly customer, and you take my word for it." Tabu-Tabu grinned again, walked to the rail, and tossed his war club down into the canoe.

"Me good missionary boy," he said, rather humbly.

"McGuffey, my dear boy," protested Captain Scraggs, "don't be so doggone rude. You might hurt this poor lad's feelin's. Of course he's only a simple native nigger, but even a dawg has feelin's. You—"

"A-r-r-rh!" snarled McGuffey. "You two belay talkin' and snappin' at each other," commanded Mr. Gibney, "an' leave all bargainin' to me. This boy is all right and we'll get along first rate if you two just haul ship and do somethin' useful besides buttin' in on your superior officer. Come along, Tabu-Tabu. Makee little eat down in cabin. You talkee captain."

"Gib, my dear boy," sputtered Captain Scraggs, bursting with curiosity, following the commodore's reappearance on deck, "whatever's in the wind?"

"Money—fortune," said Mr. Gibney, solemnly.

McGuffey edged up and eyed the commodore seriously. "Sure there ain't a little fightin' mixed up in it?" he asked.

"Not a bit of it," replied Mr. Gibney. "You're as safe on Kandavu as if you was in church. This Tabu kid is sort of prime minister to the king, with a heap of influence at court. The crew of a British cruiser stole him for a galley police when he was a kid, and he got civilized and learned to talk English. He was a cannibal in them days, but the chaplain aboard showed him how foolish it was to do such things, and finally Tabu-Tabu got religion and asked as a special favor to be allowed to return to Kandavu to civilize his people. As a result of Tabu-Tabu's efforts, he tells me the king has concluded that when he eats a white man he's flyin' in the face of his own interests, and most generally a gunboat comes along in a few months and shells the bush, and—well, anyhow, there ain't been a barbecue on Kandavu for ten years. It's a capital crime to eat a man now, and punishable by bollin' the offender alive in palm oil."

"Well," rumbled McGuffey, "this Tabu-Tabu don't look much like a preacher, if you ask me. But how about this black coral?"

"Oh, I've ribbed up a deal with him," said Mr. Gibney. "He'll see that we get all the trade we can lug away. We're the first vessel that's touched here in two years, and they have a thunderin' lot of stuff on hand. Tabu's gone ashore to talk the king into doin' business with us. If he consents, we'll have him and Tabu-Tabu and three or four of the subchiefs aboard for dinner, or else he'll invite us ashore for a big feed, and we'll have to go."

"Supposin' the king don't care to have any truck with us?" inquired McGuffey, anxiously.

"In that case, Mac," replied the commodore with a smile, "we'll just naturally shell him out of house and home."

"Well, then," said McGuffey, "let's get the guns ready. Somethin' tells me these people ain't to be trusted, and I'm tellin' you right now, Gib, I won't sleep well tonight unless them two quarter gattlings and the Maxim-Vickers rapid-fire guns is mounted and ready for business."

"All right, Mac," replied Mr. Gibney, in the tone one uses when humoring a baby. "Set 'em up if it'll make you feel more cheerful. Still, I don't see why you want to go actin' so foolish over nothin'."

"Well, Gib," replied the engineer, "I may be crazy, but I ain't no fool, and if there's a dead whale around the ship, I can come pretty near smellin' it. I tell you, Gib, that Tabu-Tabu nigger had a look in his eye for all the world like a cur dog lickin' a bone. I ain't takin' no chances. My old man used to say: 'Bart, whatever you do, aliers have an anchor out to windward.'"

"By the left hind leg of the Great Sacred Bull," snapped Captain Scraggs, "if you ain't enough to precipitate war."

"War," replied McGuffey, "is my long suit—particularly war with native niggers. I just naturally crave to punch the ear of anything darker than a Portuguese. Remember how I cleaned out the police department of Panama?"

"Mount the guns if you're goin' to, Mac. If not, for the love of the Lord don't be demoralizin' the crew with this talk of war. All I ask is that you set the guns after I've finished my business here with Tabu-Tabu. He's been on a war vessel, and knows what guns are, and if he saw you mountin' them it might break up our friendly relations. He'll think we don't trust him."

"Well, we don't," replied McGuffey, doggedly.

"Well, we do," snapped Captain Scraggs.

There is always something connected with the use of that pronoun of kings which eats like a canker at the heart of men of the McGuffey breed. That officer now spat on the deck, in defiance of the rules of his superior officers, and glared at Captain Scraggs.

"Speak for yourself, you miserable little wart," he roared. "If you include me on that cannibals' visitin' list, and go to contradictin' me agin, I'll—"

"Mac," interrupted Mr. Gibney, angrily, "control yourself. It's agin the rules to have rag-chewin' and back-bittin' on the Maggie II. Remember our motto: 'All for one and one for all'—"

"Here comes that sneakin' bushy-headed murderer back to the vessel," interrupted McGuffey. "I wonder what devilment he's up to now."

Mr. McGuffey was partly right, for in a few minutes Tabu-Tabu came alongside, climbed aboard, and, salaamed Mr. Gibney, fearful of McGuffey's inability to control his antipathy for the race, beckoned Captain Scraggs and Tabu-Tabu to follow him down into the cabin. Meanwhile, McGuffey contented himself by parading backward and forward across the fo'castle head with a Mauser rifle in the hollow of his arm and his person fairly bristling with pistols and cutlasses. Whenever one of the flotilla of canoes hove to at a respectful distance showed signs of crossing an imaginary deadline drawn by McGuffey, he would point his rifle at them and swear horribly. He scowled at Tabu-Tabu when that individual finally emerged from the conference with Mr. Gibney and Scraggs and went over the side to his waiting canoe.

"Well, what's in the wind this time?" inquired McGuffey.

"We're invited to a big feed with the king of Kandavu," replied Captain Scraggs, as happy as a boy. "Hop into a clean suit of ducks, Mac, and come along. Gib's goin' to broach a little keg of liquor and we'll make a night of it."

"Good lord," groaned McGuffey. "Does the man think I'm low enough to eat with niggers?"

"Leave him to his own devices," said Mr. Gibney, indulgently. "Mac's just as Irish as if he'd been born in Dublin, instead of his old man. No body yet overcome the prejudice of an Irishman so we'll do the honor—ourselves, Scraggs, old skittles, and leave Mac in charge of the ship."

"Mind you're both back at a seasonable hour," warned McGuffey. "If you ain't, I'll suspect mischief and—say! Gib! Well, what's the use of talkin' to a man with an imagination? Only if I have to go ashore after you two. Those islanders'll date time from my visit, and don't you forget it."

Upon arrival at the beach the two adventurers were met by a contingent of frightful-looking savages bearing long spears. As the procession formed around the guests of honor and plunged into the bush, bound for the king's war, two island maidens marched behind the two sea-dogs, waving huge palm-leaf fans, the better to make the passage a cool and comfortable one.

"By the gods of war, Gib, my dear boy," said the delighted Captain Scraggs, "but this is class, eh, Gib?"

"Every time," responded the commodore. "If that chuckle-headed McGuffey only had the sense to come along he might be enjoyin' himself, too. You must be dignified, Scraggs, old salamanter. Remember that you're bigger an' better'n any king, because you're an American citizen. Be dignified, by all means. These people are sensitive and peculiar, and that's why we haven't taken any weapons with us. If they thought we doubted their hospitality they'd have the court bouncer heave us out of town before you could say Jack Robinson."

"I'd love to see them giving the bounce to McGuffey," said Captain Scraggs, musingly. Mr. Gibney had a swift mental picture of such a proceeding and chuckled happily. Had he been permitted a glance at McGuffey at that moment he might have observed that worthy sweltering in the heat of the forward hold of the Maggie II, for he was busy getting his guns on deck. From which it will readily be deduced that B. McGuffey, Esquire, was following the advice of his paternal ancestor and getting an anchor out to windward.

One might go on at great length and describe the triumphal entry of Commodore Gibney and Captain Scraggs into the capitol of Kandavu; of how the king, an undersized, shriveled old savage, struck his bushy head out the window of his bungalow when he saw the procession coming; of how a minute later he advanced into the space in the center of his war, where in the olden days the populace was wont to gather for its cannibal orgies; how he greeted his distinguished visitors with the most prodigious rubbing of noses seen in those parts for many a day; of the feast that followed; of the fowls and pigs that garnished the festive board, not omitting the keg of Three Star thoughtfully provided by Mr. Gibney.

Tabu-Tabu acted as interpreter and everything went swimmingly until Tabu-Tabu, his hospitality doubtless strengthened by frequent libations of the Elixir of Life, begged Mr. Gibney to invite the remainder of his crew ashore for the feast. Mr. Gibney, himself rather illuminated by this time, thought it might not be a bad idea.

"It's a rotten shame, Scraggs," he said, "to think of that fool McGuffey not bein' here to enjoy himself. I'm goin' to send a note out by one of Tabu-Tabu's boys, askin' him once more to come ashore, or to let the first mate and one or two of the seamen come if Mac still refuses to be civil."

"Good idea, Gib," said Captain Scraggs, his mouth full of roast chicken and yams. So Mr. Gibney tore a leaf out of his pocket memorandum book, scrawled a note to McGuffey, and handed it to Tabu-Tabu, who at once dispatched a messenger with it to the Maggie II.

Within half an hour the messenger returned. He was wildly excited and poured a torrent of native gibberish into the attentive ears of Tabu-Tabu and the king. He pointed several times to the point of his jaw, rubbed the small of his back, and once he touched his nose; whereupon Mr. Gibney was aware that the said organ had a slight list to port, and he so informed Captain Scraggs. Neither of the gentlemen had the slightest trouble in arriving at the correct solution of the mystery. The royal messenger had been incontinently kicked overboard by B. McGuffey, Esquire.

Tabu-Tabu's wild eyes glittered and grew wilder and wilder as the messenger reported the indignity thus heaped upon him. The king scowled at Captain Scraggs, and Mr. Gibney was suddenly aware that goose-flesh was breaking out on the backs of his sturdy legs. He had a haunting sensation that not only had he crawled into a hole, but he had pulled the entire aperture in after him. For the first time he began to fear that he had been too precipitate, and with the thought it occurred to the gallant commodore that he would be much safer aboard the decks of the Maggie II. Always crafty and imaginative, however, Mr. Gibney came quickly to the front with an excuse for getting back to the ship. He stepped quickly toward the little group around the outraged royal ambassador, and inquired the cause of the disturbance. Quivering with rage, Tabu-Tabu informed him of what had occurred.

Mr. Gibney's rage, of course, knew no bounds. Nevertheless, he did not have to simulate his rage, for he was truly furious. When he could control his emotions, he requested Tabu-Tabu to inform the king that he, Gibney, accompanied by Captain Scraggs, would forthwith repair to the schooner and then and there flay the offending McGuffey within an inch of his life. Suiting the action to the word, Mr. Gibney called to Captain Scraggs to follow him, and started for the beach.

As Captain Scraggs arose, a trifle unsteadily, from his seat, a black hand reached around him from the rear and closed over his mouth. Now, Captain Scraggs was well versed in the rough-and-tumble tactics of the San Francisco waterfront; hence, when he felt a long pair of arms crossing over his neck from the rear, he merely stooped and whirled his opponent over his head. In that instant his mouth was free, and clear above the shouting and the tumult rose his frenzied shriek for help. Mr. Gibney whirled with the speed and agility of a panther just in time to dodge a blow from a war club. His fist collided with the jaw of Tabu-Tabu, and down went that savage as if pole-axed.

Pandemonium broke loose at once. Captain Scraggs, after his single shriek for help, broke from the circle of savages and fled like a frightened rabbit for the beach. One of the natives hurled a rock at him. The missile took Scraggs in the back of the head, and he instantly curled up in a heap.

"Scraggs's dead," thought the horrified Gibney, and sprang at the king. In that moment it came to Mr. Gibney to sell out dearly, and if he could dispose of the king, he felt that Scraggs's death would be avenged. In an instant the commodore's great arms had closed around the king, and with the helpless monarch in his grizzly bear grip Mr. Gibney backed up against the nearest bungalow. A fringe of spears threatened him in front, but for the moment he was safe behind, and the king's body protected him. Whenever one of the savages made a jab at Mr. Gibney, Mr. Gibney gave the king a boa-constrictor squeeze, and the monarch howled.

"I'll squeeze him to death," panted Mr. Gibney to Tabu-Tabu when that individual had managed to pick himself up. "Let me go, or I'll kill your king."

The answer was an earthenware pot which crashed down on Mr. Gibney's head from a window in the bungalow behind him. He sagged forward and fell on his face with the gasping king in his arms.

Changes With Time.

A story going the rounds: "I suppose that girl in the short dress is your daughter, that young man in riding breeches is your son, and the woman in the tea gown is your charming wife." "Nope, you're wrong. The girl in the short dress is my grandmother, the young fellow in the riding breeches is my wife, and the woman in the tea gown is my twelve-year-old daughter, who likes to dress up in her great-grandmother's dresses."

Strategy.

"Stiddy there, lion; take it aisy," quavered the Irish zoo attendant in his most soothing and ingratiating tones, as the transfer of a wild beast from one cage to another was being effected.

"What's the idea?" queried a comrade. "Callin' that hyena a lion?"
"Have ye no tact? Can't ye see 'tis flatterin' him I am?"—Los Angeles Times.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

THE HEROIC DEED OF "OLD MAN" RICHARDS

One of the hottest Indian fights in frontier history was the Battle of Adobe Walls in the Texas Panhandle in 1874. The Adobe Walls consisted of several huts, and two or three stores surrounded by a stockade, and it was headquarters for a party of hunters who killed buffaloes.

The Indians saw with dismay the destruction caused by the white men. They resolved to destroy the Adobe Walls and kill the hunters before they had wiped out the vast herds of bison.

Early on the morning of June 27 a war party of Comanches, Kiowas and Cheyennes, under the leadership of Chief Quannah of the Comanches, swept down upon the Adobe Walls. The buffalo hunters were awake, however, and as the Indians charged the white men with their heavy Sharps buffalo guns poured a deadly fire into their midst. The Indians attacked again and again, but each time they were beaten back with heavy loss. Nor did the hunters escape unharmed.

Three of them were killed in the first attack, and in one of the stores a young man named Thurston was shot through the lungs. Presently his cry of "Water! Water!" was heard above the din of fighting.

The nearest water was 50 yards away, where a pump stood in the unprotected open. In this same store was an old scout called "Old Man" Richards. He heard young Thurston's cry.

"I reckon now," said "Old Man" Richards, "I'll go fetch a bucketful." He took a bucket and tossed it through the window. A frightened dog that had been hiding near by followed him, whining. Indian bullets cut up the ground all about them. The pump was slow. It took two minutes to get the water started from the sun-cracked spout. The pump was struck a dozen times as Richards worked the handle.

He pumped on without raising his head. The dog was shot down at his feet. A bullet tore his hat from his head. Still he pumped on. At last the bucket was filled. He picked up his hat, placed it on his head, took up the bucket and brought it back to the store without spilling a drop. There was not a scratch on him.

"It's sure some hot out there in the sun," said "Old Man" Richards as he gave the dying Thurston a drink.

Picking up his rifle, he took his post at a window again without indicating by word or act that he knew he had just come out of the jaws of death.

You Save
Big Repair Costs
by painting now

YOU can't escape. Either you paint your home when it needs it or you spend from five to ten times as much rebuilding what has rotted away for lack of paint protection.

Painting costs so little compared to the service of saving it renders, that failure to paint is utter extravagance.

Painting is economy and an additional economy is found in using the best paint. It spreads easily—saves labor cost. It covers more area per gallon than "cheap" paint.

But most important, the best paint serves five or more years longer than "cheap" paint. It assures better results at a lower cost in the long run.

We have been making the best paints for 73 years—to meet the weather conditions in the West.

The best materials—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, pure zinc, and pure colors—are combined in Fuller's Paints in scientifically exact proportions with long-time skill.
